

TEACH TO WORK

What is Teach To Work?

Industry professionals and corporate leaders motivated by giving their time and expertise to launch the next generation of young professionals and leaders are a perfect fit for the Teach To Work Project Based Mentoring® course!

They'll discover the power of mentoring high school and college students and best practices for success. This 19-lesson, self-paced program guides course-takers through a mentoring process incorporating project-based learning theories.

After completing the 60-minute online course, they're ready to work with a mentee to solve real-world problems wherever they exist – on school campuses, at the internship/workplace site, or in the community.

why take this course?

- ✓ Understanding the mentee's leadership role and the mentor's role as a consultant who advises students as they ideate projects, establish timelines, and create task flows.
- ✓ Mastering the rules of engagement with mentees, including setting clear expectations and navigating the mentor-mentee relationship arc.
- ✓ Developing the communication skills of a trained mentor to easily bridge generational gaps.
- ✓ Using research-based guidance and practical know-how for effective mentoring.
- ✓ Engaging in thought-provoking exercises.
- ✓ Seeing the process in action with authentic mentee and mentor stories.

84% of U.S. Fortune 500 companies have mentoring programs. Companies with mentoring programs had profits that were 18% better than average.
